

REASONS TO EXPEDITION WITH NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC - LINDBLAD EXPEDITIONS

1 For more than 20 years, the unique collaboration between National Geographic and Lindblad Expedition has been sailing to captivating places near and far in pursuit of discovery, bringing adventurous travellers to share the thrill of uncovering the world's wild secrets.

2 We build ships that facilitate exploration with cutting-edge technologies, that can take you to remote places inaccessible by other vessels. Each ship is purposefully designed for your destination to connect you more meaningfully with the wild surroundings.

3 Our ships are equipped with tools to enhance your experience. Explore rocky shorelines in kayaks or navigate ice floes in a Zodiac boat. Bow cams and hydrophones provide fascinating perspectives of life under the sea.

4 Our undersea specialists use high-definition underwater imaging equipment to capture photos and videos throughout each voyage. The footage is shown on screens in the ship's lounge, giving our guests firsthand perspectives of the marine world.

5 The expedition team accompanying each voyage is made up of engaging explorers who are passionate about sharing their expertise. They are chosen for their knowledge of your destination and their ability to spot opportunities provided by the wilderness around them.

6 Get expert tips and listen to fascinating stories from National Geographic photographers on selected ships and departures. You can also test out top-of-the-line OM System camera equipment on board.

7 National Geographic certified photo instructors aboard every ship can help with your camera model and settings, the basic elements of framing, composition and light, and can provide shooting tips in the field to ensure you return home with fantastic photos.

8 On selected departures, you'll travel with experts in science, journalism, photography, exploration, and more. These guests offer in-depth insights and compelling conversations, helping you connect more deeply to the people, places, and wildlife along your journey.

9 Each ship is a destination in its own right, featuring thoughtfully curated amenities and cultural experiences, that connect you with the region through culinary delights, performances by local musicians, soothing spa treatments, and more.

10 With no 'port' schedule we can be the first to set foot somewhere. Because when it comes to exploration, it's not just what you see but how you see it that matters.
